EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR STATEMENT

2022 was a year full of growth and transformation for This is Jane Project. In just our second year as a 501c3, we supported hundreds of Janes on their journey to healing. We held space, provided access points, and created art for a year full of shedding light, providing community, and uplifting the lives of women and non-binary trauma survivors.

In 2022 This is Jane Project hosted:

- 12 Healing Happy Hours
- 8 Survivor's Without Access Compassion
- 3 HEARTS Healing Art Hours
- 3 Community Outreach Events

Every month, we gathered together to hear from various healing practitioners for our Healing Happy Hour program. We hosted 8 compassion events in Los Angeles and Denver, supporting hundreds of Janes with compliant, tested cannabis through our Survivor's Without Access Program.

We also hosted 3 HEARTs Healing Art hours, where Janes came together to be led by an artist through a healing art medium. Further, TIJP had the honor of bringing events to Detroit, MI and Phoenix, AZ through our newest Community Outreach program.

We're also honored to have been recognized by the LA Times, The Green Room with Eaze and Weed for Warriors Project for our SB-34 Compassion work. We've expanded our Board of Directors to include professional volunteers who are committed to our mission.

Additionally, we curated a Culturally-Informed Resource Guide for mental health professionals that will be published on our website this month! Further, we are overjoyed to announce that we are launching our newest program, Finding Jane, which facilitates affordable access to legal and reliable psychedelic treatments for addressing anxiety, depression, and self-discovery. We have much to look forward to in 2023 and with your tax-deductible donation, we can continue to shed light, build community, and uplift the lives of survivors.

2022 COMPASSIONATE CANNABIS- IMPACT

Thanks to partnerships with brands like Curaleaf, Ember Valley, Miss Grass, Lowell Farms and more, TIJP's Survivors Without Access program facilitated the donation of thousands of units to Janes in California.

Additionally, thanks to our MMJane partnership with Leafwell, 56 Janes throughout in CA have received heavily discounted physician recommendations.

5K UNITS

TIJP has facilitated the donation of over 5k units of medicinal cannabis

56

Janes have received their MMJ physician recommendation

As one of only a handful of nonprofits dedicated to compassionate care in California, This is Jane Project is honored to support women and non-binary trauma survivors using cannabis to confront, manage, and heal trauma.

2022 HEALING HAPPY HOUR- IMPACT

Thanks to Eventhi's program sponsorship, This is Jane Project continued a virtual open-consumption event series that prioritizes healing and fosters a sense of community for Janes.

Previous events included:

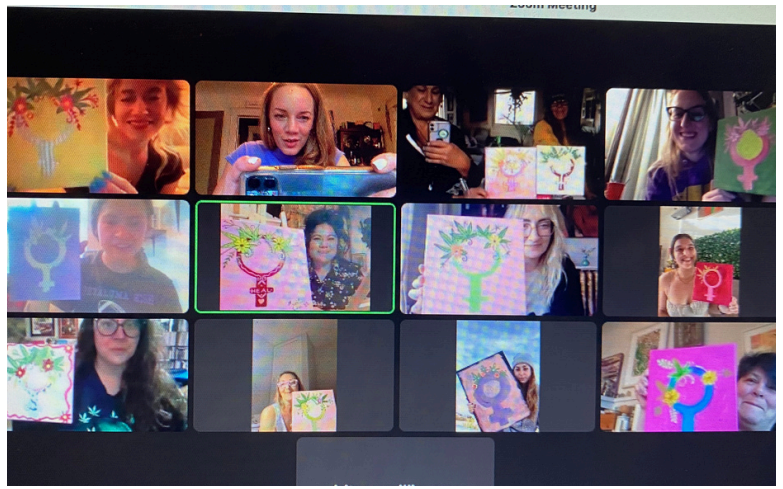

- "Trauma-informed Sound Healing"
- "How to Love Ourselves Deliciously..."
- "Breast Cancer and Cannabis Use"

Janes from across the country have joined our monthly FREE Healing Happy Hours.

Please join us for these FREE events on the 4th Wednesday of each month.

2022 HEARTS HEALING ARTS IMPACT

In collaboration with artists and survivors, TIJP hosted 3 no-cost, trauma-informed healing art hours to uplift, provide community, and support women and non-binary survivors looking to express themselves through a guided puff & paint experience.

Janes who register to attend a HEARTS Healing Arts event, receive a kit with all materials needed to participate in these virtual events.

48

Janes have used this program as part of their healing in 2022

While there are many art therapy programs out there coupled with a variety of puff & paint events, This is Jane Project aims to provide a hybrid event to facilitate a trauma-informed event approach for Janes.

2022 COMMUNITY OUTREACH IMPACT

Community Outreach are in-person events to uplift the lives of women & non-binary people who have experienced trauma through activities that build community, support healing, and create opportunities for storytelling.

These events introduce Janes to all of the TIJP programming available and work to build an inclusive network of survivors together.

Thanks to our Rooted in Good Partnership, TIJP was able to host events in Detroit, MI, Phoenix, AZ, and Isleton, CA.
